Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space
Fifty-second session
3-12 June 2009

Information from non-governmental organizations that had been granted permanent observer status with the Committee regarding any progress made in obtaining consultative status with the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC)

Note by the Secretariat

At its thirty-third session, in 1990, the United Nations Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space agreed that, in the future, non-governmental organizations which request observer status with the Committee should have consultative status with the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) and should, as part of their programmes, be concerned with matters falling within the competence of the Committee (see A/45/20, para 137).

At its fifty-first session, in 2008, the Committee agreed that non-governmental organizations that had been granted permanent observer status with the Committee should inform the Committee of any progress made in obtaining consultative status with the ECOSOC (see A/63/20, para 313).

In fulfilling that request, the Office has reviewed the ECOSOC database of NGOs that have consultative status with this organization (<http://www.un.org/esa/coordination/ngo/>) and invited non-governmental organizations that had been granted permanent observer status with the Committee to provide the information, requested by the Committee.

A table, containing both information from ECOSOC NGO Database and from permanent observers, is annexed to the present document.

NOTE: Below is the information taken from the web site of ECOSOC explaining the various types of consultative status with that organization.

General, Special and Roster status:

There are three categories of status: General consultative status, Special consultative status and Roster status.

General consultative status is reserved for large international NGOs whose area of work covers most of the issues on the agenda of ECOSOC and its subsidiary bodies. These tend to be fairly large, established international NGOs with a broad geographical reach.

Special consultative status is granted to NGOs which have a special competence in, and are concerned specifically with, only a few of the fields of activity covered by the ECOSOC. These NGOs tend to be smaller and more recently established.

Organizations that apply for consultative status but do not fit in any of the other categories are usually included in the Roster. These NGOs tend to have a rather narrow and/or technical focus. NGOs that have formal status with other UN bodies or specialized agencies (FAO, ILO, UNCTAD, UNESCO, UNIDO, WHO and others), can be included on the ECOSOC Roster. The roster lists NGOs that ECOSOC or the UN Secretary-General considers can make "occasional and useful contributions to the work of the Council or its subsidiary bodies."
