

General Assembly

Distr.: Limited
18 January 2010
English
Original: Spanish

Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space

Reports on national and regional activities related to the International Space Weather Initiative

Note by the Secretariat

Addendum

Contents

	Page
II. Reports received from Member States.	2
Spain	2

II. Reports received from Member States

Spain

[Original: Spanish]
[19 November 2009]

Activities related to the study and prediction of space weather are a component of the Space Situational Awareness programme. Such activities include the measurement of the radiation environment, through the inclusion of sensors in various space missions, and the development of new measurement systems, space environment models and prediction methods. All these activities represent an important contribution to the advancement of knowledge regarding the space environment and space weather.
